Georgia Neuroendocrine Tumor Support Group (MACAG)

The Georgia Neuroendocrine Tumor Support Group (MACAG) was established in November 2004. The group was established as an informal communications enabler for those who reside in Georgia and have been diagnosed with carcinoid and other neuroendocrine cancers. The group also welcomes family members and medical professionals who wish to share information with MACAG members. Members are encouraged to attend an informal quarterly meeting. The meeting is intended to enable members to meet each other and exchange information. This group's mission is to increase neuroendocrine cancer awareness within the Metro Atlanta Area and the state of Georgia. MACAG utilizes the YahooGroups membership capability for group communication. Those interested in joining the group may send an email request to their E-list at MACAG-owner@yahoogroups.com.

New Jersey

New Jersey Carcinoid Cancer Network (NJ-CCN)

The New Jersey Carcinoid Cancer Network has been serving the NJ community since 2001, when we started as the NJ Chapter of the Metro New York Carcinoid Support Group. When the Metro group was formed, it was thought that because carcinoid and other neuroendocrine tumors were so rare, it would require a large geographic area to create a comprehensive group. With the advent of increased awareness, in part due to support groups, we are now able to provide a more localized group to better serve everyone. Our mission is to promote awareness of carcinoid and other NETs and to provide shared information to patients, caregivers and medical professionals to assist them in managing their disease, provide treatment and diagnostic options that may not be common knowledge. Meetings are typically held on the first Sunday of most months and run from 1:30 to 4:30 pm. Effective with the September 9, 2012 meeting, our group's new meeting location is the Woodbridge Main Public Library.

India

Carcinoid and Neuroendocrine Tumour Society, India

Carcinoid and Neuroendocrine Tumor Society (CNETS) India is dedicated to carcinoid and neuroendocrine tumor patients, family caregivers, researchers and physicians. Based in New Delhi, India, CNETS India serves members throughout India and the Asia Pacific region.

The primary focus of the CNETS India is to establish an online helpline and resource for patients and caregivers all over India and South East Asia for medical advice.

The society also serves as a forum especially for patients, carers and family members of NET patients who need a support network to meet others who have had similar experiences and can provide reassurance and support.

The founders of CNETS India are a team of medical specialists working at reputed institutes across India with a special interest in management of carcinoid and neuroendocrine tumors. CNETS India has an advisory panel of specialist doctors with experience in managing NET patients.

Ireland

NET Patient Network

NET Patient Network was formed in 2012 to provide information and support services for NET patients in Ireland.

The primary purpose of NET Patient Network is to put Irish NET patients in touch with each other so that we can collectively help and support each other through living with our disease. Both newly diagnosed as well as existing patients, some of whom have lived with NETs for many years, can get great benefit and comfort from interacting with and supporting each other.

Our first objective is to compile a list of all NET patients in Ireland. We want to give greater weight to your voice in dealing with the HSE and the medical establishment.

We have an annual NET Patient day where we gather NET patients and their families together with Irish and international doctors. On that day, we have presentations, group discussions, and questions and answers with experts in the field.
